TO THE ACHIEVEKIDS COMMUNITY,

As the air has turned crisp, and we are welcoming back the rain, I write this hearing laughter and joy in the background on our campuses. The past two years have been challenging, and they remain challenging. We have seen significant disruptions, many outside of our control, we've experienced periods of isolation, and all of us have been pushed into deep reflections. Through it all, we hear laughter and our students interacting with peers and staff. It is with pride that I reflect on the work of our community to keep our students engaged.

AchieveKids' schools are designed to support the most complex and vulnerable students within our communities. The pandemic has been hard on all of us, but even more-so on those already often excluded or struggling with access. The journey for many of our families is one of living on an island and often feeling misunderstood. To know our campuses offer a place of acceptance and a place of engaged learning and growth for our students is one we should take pride in. Hearing the joy as well as the struggles on our campuses help ground us in the 'why' and re-engage us in our pursuit to create the best possible opportunity for our students.

During this season of thanks, I want to express my gratitude for our community. To those who help support our mission, you make our community a better place, a more inclusive place, both within and beyond the door of AchieveKids. Thank you.

We are Stronger Together,

Ryan C. Eisenberg
Executive Director
